The Charm of Cohen's Millinery

The charm of Cohen's Millinery is that no matter how inexpensive, the Hat is correct. The same designs please them all. A Hat selling for $5 or $6 if the scheme is worked out with little material or for $10 or $20 of great plumes or other expensive goods are used. Nothing is trashy. Silk Ribbons and first-class trimmings are always used. In other words a Cohen Hat has intrinsic value, an art value too, for remember we employ the best designers and many of them, regardless of cost.

Chiffon Hats, in White and Black, Ready-to-Wear, for $1.50 and $2

NOTABLE EDUCATORS WHO WILL ATTEND THE CONFERENCE HERE

One of the great events of Richmond this spring is the annual convention of the Conference for Education in the South.

This splendid body of philanthropists will meet in the Academy of Music of this city on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 22d. This will be the session for reorganization. It is exceedingly likely that the present officers will be re-elected at once and without opposition. President Robert C. Ogden is so wrapped up in the work and mission of the Conference that it would be impossible to find a better man.

The Southern Education Board is the Executive Board of the Conference and is composed as follows:

Robert C. Ogden, Dr. Charles W. Dabney, Dr. E. A. Alderman, Dr. C. D. McNeely, Dr. H. B. Friswell, George Foster Peabody, Rev. Wallace Buttrick, D. D., Hon. H. H. Hanna, William H. Baldwin, Jr., Dr. Albert Shaw, Dr. Walter H. Page, and Edgar Gardner Murphy.

The session in the afternoon will be devoted to a quantity of handshaking and there will be a general feeling of goodwill and good-nature generally. If it will not be long this actual transaction of business, and the remainder of the time, will be spent in getting acquainted.

GREAT OPENING SESSION.

The first great formal meeting which will be of special interest to the general public will be held at night. The audience which will assemble in the Academy that night will be the poor in culture and distinction of any that has ever gathered in this city. The president of the Conference elected in the afternoon will preside and will present Hon. A. J. Montague, Governor of Virginia, who will welcome the guests to the State. Responses will be made by some member of the Conference and then will follow the prescribed programme for the evening.

Three sessions Thursday and Friday will be held and the concluding meeting occurs on Saturday at the University of Virginia. But a trip will be taken down the river as far as Jamestown on Monday, the 27th, and many will stay over to enjoy this treat. The programme for each day will embrace distinguished
